

Crown Dancers on the San Carlos Apache Reservation are an important part of many ceremonies. They bob and dance around a roaring bonfire as the drums beat and men chant. With primarily black and white costumes, their presence can be very scary for the little children attending. Satan is also a very active on the Reservation-and even more frightening. Please pray for those of the San Carlos Apache Reservation as you color this page.